

Greetings!

Sedated Society

Americans are too brain dead to understand what is happening around them. We are hypnotized by Hollywood, mesmerized by materialism and sedated by sports. While our leaders drive our nation to the poor house we are sleeping soundly in the back of the bus. We are uninformed and unconcerned.

Someone told me recently they didn't watch the news because it depressed them. They preferred to coast through life in "Game Show Bliss". While Vanna spins the wheel our nation spins out of control. I am afraid the only thing that will awaken us out of our stupor is the pain of reality slapping us across the face.

Our churches have become show places of entertainment giving the people more of what they want in hopes that they will come back. The pastors tickle ears with positive thinking and prosperity heresy. Oh that someone would blow the trumpet and sound the alarm and call the people to fast and pray for the sake of our children.
